A brief write-up about your Event (in about 300 words) :

This workshop is designed specifically for fourth-year BA B.Ed students to equip them with the skills necessary for their future teaching careers, focusing on the essential practice of crafting effective question papers using Bloom's Taxonomy. Bloom's Taxonomy is crucial because it enables educators to create assessments that not only measure students' retention of information but also promote higher-order thinking skills. By mastering Bloom's Taxonomy, future educators can ensure their students develop critical thinking, problem-solving, and analytical abilities, which are key for academic and professional success.
