A brief write-up about the Event (in about 300 words):

The Island of Divar was once a site of Hindu pilgrimage - one of many in India - and hosted the temples of Saptakoteshwar, Ganesh, Mahamaya and Dwarkeshwar. During the Christianization of Goa, in the 16th century, many were shifted, by the Goan Hindus, to other locations. It's also said, that the current Cemetery near Church at hilltop once housed a Ganesh Temple. The Hindus rehabilitated it in village of Candola near Marcel. Shirali, a village near Bhatkal in Karnataka also houses a part of the Shree Ganesh Mahamaya temples of Navelim and Goltim. The ancient site of pilgrimage is called Porne Tirth (Old pilgrim spot-in Konkani). With the famous Bonderam festival celebrated in Divar on 27th, the fourth Saturday of August, a field trip to Divar and Old , organised by the Department of English and Study Circle, Goa provided the students of Goan literature and history a wonderful opportunity to be a part of this spectacle and experience the hoary heritage of the island and the erstwhile capital of the city of Velha Goa (Old Goa).
